

Wilderness House Literary Review 3/3

Robert K. Johnson

CLAIRE DE LUNE

Tonight the piano's
opening notes
take me to a place
stripped of everything
but a soft whiteness
that leads me
to wonder:

How can it be

I've spent years
of evenings
talking with friends
completely
uninterested
in who
I really am.